

T T L E
R A S

BUZZWORD around this subscriber's place is to stay clear of this post for obvious reasons!

Bee Careful at This Fence Post

WHILE mowing our lawn last May, I found a swarm of bees on a fence post. I quickly withdrew to a safe distance and then went for my camera.

I proceeded to take pictures of the swarm from a distance, and finally worked my way up to about 2 ft. without being stung.

Later, I called a man who has an orchard nearby and asked if he would be interested in the bees. He came right away to take them.

I'm not sure what attracted those bees to that post. I'm just glad they found a new home!

—Charles Upton
Cambridge, Ohio